

CARYL PHILLIPS

“Ageing re-imagined”

British-Caribbean novelist Caryl Phillips discusses his award-winning novel A Distant Shore, comparing the experience of Britain's isolated old with that of asylum seekers. Part of the groundbreaking 'Ageing Re-imagined' series hosted by the Brunel Centre for Contemporary Writing, in association with U3A and Research Councils UK.

19th March 2010, 4.30-6pm
LSE, room U8, Tower 1
Clements Inn Passage, Aldwych
London WC2A 2AE
£6 / £4 concs

advance bookings/payments advised
contact Natalia Clarke
Natalia.clarke@brunel.ac.uk
01895 267257

